

Curriculum:

Professor of Computer Science at the Department of Mathematics and Computer Science in University of Cagliari (Italy). He is President of the undergraduate and postgraduate courses (Bachelor Degree and Master) in Computer science and Director of the Consortium for the E-Learning University UnitelSardinia. He teaches courses on Computer Networks and Information Systems. He works in scientific research in computer science discipline for over 25 years, he represents his University at the GARR Rectors Conference (CRUI), is a member of scientific committees, associations and national and international boards. He is author of 80 international paper and his the most recent research topics: Mobile eXtended E-learning Support System, Human Computer Interaction and User Interface.